We believe in our software. That is why we stand by our record: To date, we have successfully resolved 100% of all support requests. If, in exceptional cases, the software does not work on your system and our support team cannot fix the issue, we will refund your full purchase price.

How does it work?

It's completely hassle-free. If you experience a technical issue, simply contact our support team. If we are unable to resolve the problem, just send us a quick proof (e.g., a screenshot of the error message), and we will process your refund.

(Please note: This is a voluntary satisfaction guarantee provided by AnioLabs for technical issues. Your statutory right of withdrawal remains completely unaffected by this.)
